Beyond Boundaries: Knowing When the Other Person is Ready

This presentation will help you evaluate if the person you are considering trusting is ready to receive your trust. Is this person trustworthy? Whether this is a new person or someone from the past, you need to have a way to evaluate character. You should not be looking for perfect people, but for people who are in the growth process. Dr. Townsend will give you five essential criteria to use in determining if someone can be trusted.

Small group discussion questions:

1) How has your judgment been in previous important relationships? How would you rate yourself on a scale of 1 – 5, with 5 being best?

2) Which of the 5 essential criteria has been a challenge for you?

3) What discussion can you have this week with a person you want a relationship with?
